

GMV will be present at Transports Publics

From 12 to 14 June GMV will be exhibiting its products and services in Stand J30 at Transports Publics 2018. Every two years this Paris exhibition brings together all the main stakeholders in public transport and sustainable mobility from across Europe.

GMV, a trailblazer in the design, development and implementation of telematic transport systems, will be running a stand displaying its main activities and solutions in transport telematics, including its advanced fleet-management and passenger-information systems for urban public transport and railways, transport-on-demand systems for rural areas and its range of electronic fare-collection equipment.

This is a not-to-be-missed biennial exhibition for key players from the sectors of railways, buses, coaches and all other sectors associated with public transport: public works, infrastructure, civil engineering, urban furniture, parking systems, ticketing systems, consultancy, design, banking, insurance, energy, organizations.

This year's Transports Publics is expected to attract a turnout of over 11,000 trade professionals, 250 exhibitors and visitors from over 66 countries.
